

To so many people in central Connecticut, Powder Ridge was their first memory of standing at the top of a ski slope. Today, with the rapidly changing trends and environment, something more needed to be done to save this childhood memory. Making a four season resort was the answer. With the addition of an indoor and outdoor water park, resort accommodations and destination restaurants, Powder Ridge will be able to provide that first experience for the next generation. The property will be transformed through a Master Plan for new timeshare and hotel accommodations, commercial plazas, expanded outdoor activities and closer association with the neighboring amenities.
